Course Content Description:

An analysis of the contemporary occupations, with emphasis on large-scale organizations, the structure of occupations and the nature of work.

Purpose and Structure of the course

This is an upper-level, elective course usually offered during the Fall and Spring semesters by the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice. The purpose of the course is to develop some of the core competencies in students that are emphasized by the department, such as communication skills, critical thinking, an understanding of the structure and functioning of groups and organizations, critical self-reflection, interpersonal and intercultural skills, and adherence to the highest ethical standards. The course is structured around the components of discussion forums and a research paper.

Required Texts:

Ehrenreich, Barbara. Nickel and Dimed: On (Not) Getting By in America. (10th Anniversary edition, 11th ed. revised). Picador, 2011. ISBN 978-0-312-62668-6

Ritzer, George. Ritzer, The McDonaldization of Society (8th edition). Los Angeles, CA: Sage, 2015. ISBN 978-1-4833-5894-9

Course-Level Objectives:

*Students will interpret the course chapters and themes by participating in weekly Discussion Question forums, focusing on understanding the transformation of work, trends in income inequalities, and globalization forces that are changing the workplace and the organization of work.

*Students will write a research paper that identifies an appropriate research question, reviews and interprets the literature, and draws conclusions.

Measurement: Research Paper Grading Rubric

*Students will interpret journal articles and videos by participating in weekly Short Essay forums, focusing on critical thinking. Students will apply sociological perspectives to a sociological understanding of occupations. They will translate the primary sociological theories, methods and themes into their real life by presenting evidence, implications and consequences as to how these relate to themselves.

Measurement: Critical Thinking Grading Rubric

*Students will interpret journal articles and videos by participating in weekly Short Essay forums, focusing on ethical reasoning. Students will apply, evaluate and gain self-awareness to different ethical perspectives/concepts related to the sociology of occupations.

Measurement: Ethical Reasoning Grading Rubric

*Students will interpret journal articles and videos by participating in weekly Short Essay forums, focusing on intercultural knowledge. Students will interpret attitudes and empathic, verbal and nonverbal communication skills that facilitate and help perpetuate current work trends.

Measurement: Intercultural Knowledge Grading Rubric

Module-Level Objectives:

Week 1--Ethics in the Work Place (Ethical Reasoning)

Appraise your core beliefs related to providing false or misleading information on a resume and the origins of those beliefs. Indicate some of the implications for employers who receive many resumes with false or misleading details.

Week 2--Job Satisfaction (Critical Thinking)

Predict the type of job that would bring you satisfaction (monetary, career, and/or personal). Explain where and how one would look for evidence that employees are satisfied in a workplace.

Week 3--Women in the Work Place (Intercultural Knowledge)

Judge the possible reactions toward having a female boss from some men from traditional, non-Western cultures who come to work in the U.S. Defend a man from another culture who has misinterpreted a gesture or greeting from a female supervisor.

Week 4--Work and Family (Critical Thinking)

Explain your perception of the type of job that would provide you with a balance between work life and family life. Indicate where would you look for evidence that employees have a good work-family balance.

Week 5--Work and Healthcare (Ethical Reasoning)

Appraise your core beliefs related to having healthcare plans pay for abortions and the origins of those beliefs. Indicate some of the implications of a company's healthcare plan prohibiting coverage for abortions for workers and their families.

Week 6--Work and Leisure (Critical Thinking)

Explain your position regarding how much vacation a typical worker in the U.S. should receive. Appraise evidence as to the possible reasons why workers in some countries tend to go away on vacation at a higher rate.

Week 7--Globalization (Intercultural Knowledge)

Predict how people in another culture may think of using a globally marketed product differently or in another setting than consumers in the U.S. Indicate how someone from another culture may misinterpret a U.S. marketing campaign for a consumer product.

Week 8--Mandatory Retirement (Ethical Reasoning)

Appraise your core beliefs related to mandatory retirement and the origins of those beliefs. Describe the implications of having a mandatory retirement age for some occupations.

Week 9--Outsourcing (Ethical Reasoning)

Explain your core beliefs related to outsourcing and the origins of those beliefs. Describe some of the implications of U.S. companies outsourcing their operations.

Week 10--Workplace meetings (Intercultural knowledge)

Predict how may another cultural group interpret the American tendency toward punctuality in meetings. Indicate how someone from the U.S. may interpret the tendency in traditional Latin American society for meetings to begin late, and once they begin, for participants to often spend some time discussing each other's families, the weather or other items before getting to the topic at hand.

Week 11--Employee Theft (Ethical Reasoning)

Appraise your core beliefs related to employees stealing merchandise or office supplies from their employers and the origins of those beliefs. Indicate the implications of widespread employee theft in a company.

Week 12--Employee Benefits (Critical Thinking)

Explain your position on whether same-sex couples should receive employee benefits on an equal basis with married couples. Indicate the type of evidence you would need to collect to help you evaluate the pros and cons of offering employee benefits to same-sex couples.

Week 13--Age Discrimination in the Workplace (Critical Thinking)

Indicate your position on whether you think age discrimination is a problem in the American workplace. Identify the type of evidence you would need to collect to help you evaluate the claim that there has been an increase in age discrimination.

Week 14--Worker Productivity (Intercultural knowledge)

Predict how an American may view the Spanish custom of taking a siesta and long lunch on work days. Indicate how a Spaniard accustomed to his daily siesta may view the American custom of just a one-hour break for lunch.

Week 15--Occupational Aspirations (Intercultural knowledge)

Predict how someone from a traditional culture where women are encouraged to enter certain female-dominated professions such as teaching and nursing may interpret the trend in the U.S. of some women entering non-traditional occupations such as firefighting and construction? Indicate what a patient in a U.S. hospital from a traditional culture may think of the presence of male nurses and female physicians in the hospital.

Week 16--Job Preparation (Critical Thinking)

Explain your position on whether a college education should be focused on career training or more broadly in the Liberal Arts. Identify evidence that would help you evaluate the claim that Liberal Arts graduates have more successful careers than students who are focused on career training.

Meeting Learning Objectives:

In order to meet the Course and Weekly Learning Objectives students should, on a weekly basis, read the relevant chapters and the journal articles, access links to videos available on the course website, answer the Discussion Questions (DQ) and Short Essay Questions (SEQ) on the Discussion Board, and respond to the posts of other students.

Prerequisites:

While the prerequisite for this course is SOCI 2201, there are some additional considerations that each student must make. The online method of course delivery is different from the classroom environment and requires the following minimum student preparation:

Self Discipline

With Internet courses the instructor remains a valuable resource; however, the day-to-day instruction is not there and requires the student to become proactive in their learning. The student must be self-disciplined in order to be successful. Time management and organizational skills are a must in order to excel.

Critical Reading

A characteristic of online course delivery is the amount of reading required. Students have become accustomed to instructors explaining the text. This has resulted in students' not reading as much or not paying as much attention to what they read. In an online course, students must keep up with reading assignments and comprehend what they read.

Computer Skills

To do well in this course it is necessary that students have certain computer and Internet skills, such as being familiar with email (including attaching documents), searching databases, netiquette, and reading large amounts of text on screen.

ADA Considerations:

If you are a student who is disabled as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act and require support services, please seek assistance through Student Disability Services [sss.kennesaw.edu/sds]. You may contact the SDS office at 470-578-2666 (Kennesaw campus) or 678-915-7244 (Marietta campus) or send them an email [sds@kennesaw.edu].

Course Components:

The purpose of the course is to give students a better understanding of the role of work in our society and the forces in society that help to shape the workplace. All posts and responses to other students are due by 11:59pm each Sunday. The course consists of the following components--

Participation

It is expected that students will participate in the class each week by contributing to the threaded discussion questions, completing assignments in a timely fashion, and asking questions of your classmates and the facilitator. Participation will be monitored. Participation credit will be given for responding to the posts of at least two other students each week--please note that participation points are only given for the current week and may not be made up.

Sam's Speakeasy Discussion Forum

Please use this section to post questions you have about how to complete an assignment, something about the course you do not understand, or use it as a place to ask questions in general of each other. If you would like to ask the Instructor a question please put "Question for Sam" in the subject line. Check this section each week to see if you can be of help to anyone else in the class. Responses and questions posted here will NOT count toward weekly participation points.

Discussion Question Forum

The Discussion Questions are based on the readings in the text. Please respond to each question in one or two sentences, although there is no length limit for your responses.

Short Essay Questions Forum

Short Essay Questions are meant to aid in your sociological understanding of occupations as you apply sociological perspectives, evaluate and gain self-awareness to different ethical perspectives/concepts, and interpret attitudes and types of communication. Full-text articles and YouTube videos will provide context for the questions. Points will be deducted for responses that fall below the minimum of 1,600 characters/letters--NOT words (this is about two full paragraphs).

Research Paper

For your research paper please select one of the topics that we will be covering in the coming weeks or a related topic.

Requirements: The body of the research paper--not including the title page and bibliography--must be 4-5 pages, typewritten (Times New Roman font, size 12), and double-spaced. If you have posted the outline and bibliography to the Discussion Board they do not need to be included with your paper. However, if you have added or deleted sources from your bibliography since it was posted please include the revised bibliography with your paper. You are required to use at least four articles that are in one of the databases available through Academic Search Complete or another of the databases available through GALILEO. These databases are available at the following link: [<http://www.kennesaw.edu/library>] Click on GALILEO. For help in accessing databases or general searching techniques please go to <http://galileo.usg.edu> . For additional help please contact the KSU Reference Desk at (770) 423-6325.

APA or MLA style may be used for in-text citations and the bibliography. No abstract or title page is required for the research paper.

You are not permitted to use books for the research paper unless the complete book is in electronic form, in which case put [e-book] next to the citation in your bibliography. A bibliography is a listing of the bibliographic citations of the sources that you will use for the research paper. For each source list the author of the article, title of the article, title of the journal, date, etc—an example appears below.

APA format:

Author's last name, Author's initials (Year of publication). Article title. Journal title, Volume number(Issue number), pages of article. Retrieved from Name of the database.

Sample citation using APA format:

Curley, A. M. (2005). Theories of urban poverty and implications for public housing policy. Journal of Sociology & Social Welfare, 32(2), 97- . Retrieved from Academic Search Complete database.

Points will be deducted for including books or Internet sources other than databases that are available through GALILEO.

The outline should contain headings for the major points in the paper and subheadings for the minor ones. Headings may be ordered by indentation, numerals and/or letters.

For your research paper you may use footnotes, endnotes or include (author, date) in the text. A bibliography should always be included.

Submission: Please submit the paper using the Dropbox link. All other parts of the research paper (the topic, bibliography, outline, and introductory paragraph) should be submitted to the Research Paper Discussion Board.

NOTE: The Writing Center, located in Room 242 in the English Building, is a free service available to all members of the university community. Tutors assist writers in all aspects of writing: inventing topics, organizing, drafting, revising, grammar, punctuation, documentation, and composing on the Word Processor. Students needing information about the Regents Test and/or practice in writing the essay itself should contact the Writing Center. Check the door of the Writing Center for current hours this semester, or click on the following link: <http://www.kennesaw.edu/writingcenter/>

Undergraduate Advising Center

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences is pleased to offer academic advising to students in the Undergraduate Advising Center (UAC). The UAC is located in Pilcher 132, on the first floor near the Foreign Language Resource Center. Their hours are Monday-Friday 9:00 am – 6:00 pm. Students are strongly encouraged to make appointments using the website, <http://www.kennesaw.edu/hssadvising/appointments.php>, or by calling the Center during office hours at 770-794-7728. For more information, visit the UAC website: <http://www.kennesaw.edu/hssadvising/home.php>.

Etiquette expectations for online discussions and email

I would encourage you all to contribute to the discussions in the Forums. Remember: Participation is essential and important. Please be respectful of your classmates in these discussions. Derogatory comments, inflammatory remarks, violent references, etc. will not be tolerated. Before posting your first message become familiar with some issues regarding e-mail etiquette found at [www.dynamoo.com/technical/etiquette.htm]

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1AcRWSexkUg>

Why a liberal arts education is the best job preparation. By Kenneth P. Ruscio. Christian Science Monitor, September 19, 2012.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

In no case will academic dishonesty be tolerated. Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as published in the undergraduate and graduate Catalogues. Section II of this code addresses the University's policy on academic honesty, including provisions regarding plagiarism and cheating, unauthorized access to University materials, misrepresentation/falsification of University records or academic work, malicious removal, retention, or destruction of library materials, malicious/intentional misuse of computer facilities and/or services, and misuse of student identification cards. Incidents of alleged academic misconduct will be handled through the established procedures of the University Judiciary Program, which includes either an 'informal' resolution by a faculty member, resulting in a grade adjustment, or formal hearing procedure, which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct's minimum one semester requirement.

PLAGIARISM AND CHEATING

No student shall receive, attempt to receive, knowingly give or attempt to give unauthorized assistance in the preparation of any work required to be submitted for credit (including examinations, laboratory reports, essays, themes, term papers, etc.). Unless specifically authorized, the presence and/or use of electronic devices during an examination, quiz, or other class assignment is considered cheating. Engaging in any behavior which a professor prohibits as academic misconduct in the syllabus or in class discussion is cheating. When direct quotations are used, they should be indicated, and when the ideas, theories, data, figures, graphs, programs, electronic based information or illustrations of someone other than the student are incorporated into a paper or used in a project, they should be duly acknowledged. No student may submit the same, or substantially the same, paper or other assignment for credit in more than one class without the prior permission of the current professor(s).

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY STATEMENT

No person shall, on the grounds of race, color, sex, religion, creed, national origin, age, or disability, be excluded from employment or participation in, be denied the benefits of, or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity conducted by KSU.

STATEMENT OF NON-DISCRIMINATION

“Kennesaw State University (KSU) is committed to maintaining a fair and respectful environment for living, work and study. To that end, and in accordance with federal and state law, Board of Regents policy, and University policy, the University prohibits harassment of or discrimination against any person because of race, color, sex (including sexual harassment and pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, ethnicity or national origin, religion, age, genetic information, disability, or veteran status by any member of the KSU Community on campus, in connection with a University program or activity, or in a manner that creates a hostile environment for members of the KSU community. Incidents of harassment and discrimination will be met with appropriate disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal, expulsion, or termination from KSU. Every member of the KSU community is expected to uphold this policy as a matter of mutual respect and fundamental fairness in human relations. All members of the faculty, staff, and student body are expected to ensure that nondiscriminatory practices are followed at the University.”
